New On-line Probate Docket Search Service Now Available in Clerk's Office

CHICAGO (April 4, 2005) - The Honorable Dorothy Brown, Clerk of the Circuit Court of Cook County, is now providing online access to Probate Division cases on the Clerk's Office website, www.cookcountyclerkofcourt.org.

The service may be used as a resource to determine the general status of historical and in-process court cases. The information featured on the system gives users a general understanding of a Probate case's history and disposition.

On the website, users will click on the box for Online Case Information and then click on the box marked Probate Search on the menu list. Upon opening the Probate Search webpage, a person will choose to search by case number, name of estate or claimant or by the date that the case was filed.

"This is yet another service offered to help the public access the details of respective cases efficiently," said Clerk Brown. "The Clerk's Office is committed to using technology to improve services offered to citizens."
